

84th GASG Colloquium Call for Papers

Rising Stars in Gas Sensing: 4th Early Career Researchers Meeting

23rd March 2023
Chicheley Hall

This colloquium will provide the opportunity for early career researchers to give short talks (5-10 minutes, to be decided) or posters in the broad area of gas analysis/volatile compound analysis, airborne substances and sensing technologies. The applications can be in any area and contributions from workers in industry, academia, government, etc are sought. A plenary lecture will be given by an invited guest. This is an excellent opportunity to hear about and present the latest research in this important area.

The committee are now accepting submissions for talks and posters. Please use the Presenter Registration Form below.

There will be three prizes for the best talks and one for the best poster. In addition, the winners will be eligible for and free attendance at the next GASG meeting.

This will be a 1-day online symposium, starting at 10:30 with refreshments and registration, with talks starting at 11.00. There will be ample opportunities for networking over lunch and talks will finish at 15:30, followed by prize presentations. Posters will be delivered in specific breakout rooms over a lunchtime poster session. It is anticipated that there will be opportunities to have informal discussions regarding employment prospects in the gas detection and analysis area with companies and research groups active in the field - a recruitment breakout room will be provided for this purpose.
